THE RIGHT USE OF TALENTS

As Indicated by a Biblical Parable

ARE you an exchanger? In the parable of the talents (Matthew 25) the man who had been given one talent was told he ought to have put his employer's money to the exchangers, so that he would have received his own with usury. Whether or not we wish to call the other two "exchangers" the fact remains that those who love the Lord are in a position to lay up for themselves treasures in heaven, "where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal."

Treasure in Heaven

It is evident then that it is possible, by the grace of God, to exchange things of this world for too, that the talent was not lost; it was given to the one with ten talents.

A Lesson For To-day

What would have been the position of the man with one talent had he given it to the exchangers? It would seem that he would not have made use of it, according to his own initiative or as he was guided by the Spirit. It would have been in the hands of another, as it eventually was, anyhow. But he would not have lost his own soul.

The two faithful servants were undoubtedly doers of the Word, and not hearers only, as we are admonished in James 1:22. The third, however, was but deceiving himself from putting their shoulder to the wheel, thinking they may not get full credit for what they do. If they are truly His, they will not care so much for the credit which comes from man, but will be content to know that there is One above who will give each the credit due him, no more and no less.

Let the True Light Shine

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in Heaven" (Matt. 5:16).

We have a right to expect that, as we give of the true light, we shall be given more light.

God is Faithful and Just

If our light is not such as would

SUNDAY—Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Romans 12:9.

A good rule for every day living. The line of demarkation is clear.

*Begon, vain world! Thou hast no charms for me,
My captive soul has long been held by thee;
I listened long to thy vain song,
And thought thy music sweet,
And thus my soul lay grovelling at thy feet.*

MONDAY—I have called you friends.—John 15:15.

Sings the poet: "A friend of Jesus, oh, what bliss; what fellowship divine." Incredible, yet true that we who once rejected Christ are now called His friends.

*I've been called a friend by Jesus;
I have heard His living Word.
What a privilege to carry
Truth where it has not been heard.*

TUESDAY—This man receiveth sinners, and eateth with them. Luke 15:2.

Christ loves the sinner, but not his sins, and He did not hesitate to rebuke evil in men.

*They are slaves who dare not be
In the right with two or three.*
J. R. Lowell.

WEDNESDAY—Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be saved.—Acts 27:31.

Paul in this instance acted as pilot and leader. Let us obey our Great Pilot and we shall be safe.

*I would the precious time redeem,
And longer live for this alone,
To spend, and to be spent for them
Who have not yet my Saviour known.*

THURSDAY—Chose you this day whom ye will serve.—Joshua 24:15.

Choices meet us at every turn of life. It is how we decide that reveals our character. They who put God first will make right choices.

*Ye servants of God, your Master proclaim,
And publish abroad His wonderful name.*

FRIDAY—I heard the voice of the Lord saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me.—Isaiah 6:8.

As soldiers of the King of kings we do not battle at our own charges. He will take care of every need.

*I have read of men of faith
Who have bravely fought till death,
Who now the crown of life are wearing;
Then the thought comes back to me:
Can I not a soldier be,
Like to those martyrs bold and daring?*

SATURDAY—But God . . . —Eph. 2:4.

To those who make God their all-in-all, Divine intervention often comes in the hour of need. Just as Joseph's seeming misfortunes were in the long run, over-ruled for good.

*I look to Thee in every need,
And never look in vain;
I feel Thy strong and tender love,
And all is well again.*

WHATEVER IS — IS BEST

I KNOW as my life grows older
And my eyes have clearer sight
That under each rank wrong, somewhere
There lies the root of Right:
That each sorrow has its purpose
By the sorrowing oft unguessed,
But as sure as the sun brings morning,
Whatever is—is best.

I know that each cruel action
As sure as the night brings shade,
Is somewhere, sometime punished,
Tho' the hour be long delayed.
I know that the soul is aided,
Sometimes by the heart's unrest.
And to grow means often to suffer—
But whatever is—is best.

I know there are no errors
In the great Eternal Plan,
And all things work together
For the final good of man;
And I know when my soul speeds onward
In its grand Eternal Quest,
I shall say as I look back earthward
Whatever is—is best.

treasures in heaven. We have no right to suppose that it is possible for anyone who has not been born again to do this, for we cannot buy our way to heaven with the gifts God has given us.

The Talent Was Not Lost

The spiritual meaning of the parable of the talents gives us to understand that the three were all God's servants, including the one who, in the end, was cast out into "outer darkness." But we notice,

ARE YOU SAVED?

JUST three words, but this important question is one that may have far-reaching results to the individual addressed. It may be answered in the affirmative or in the negative. It may not be answered in any other manner. If your reply is "No," and you wish to be converted, it is our pleasure to recommend you to the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sins of the world. We know of no other Saviour.

Acknowledge your need to Him! Repent with sincere sorrow and forsake every sin, and ask Him to cleanse your ways!

HE DIED FOR YOU!

Christ died and rose again that this might be wrought in your life.

Go forth, in His name, to serve Him the rest of your days!

Crown Christ King of your life! Give Him the pre-eminence in all that you do.

during the absence of his master, as many are doing to-day.

Many are doing commendably, sacrificing themselves in His service, but many others could do more than they are. Among these there may be some who hold back have the Master's approval, what right would we have then, to expect any increase? But He who reigns above is faithful and just, and we can put our trust in Him.

M.N., Kelowna, B.C.

THE ESSENTIAL ROOT

NOTHING can make up for the lack of life . . . This is specially true of the spiritual life of which we are speaking. Take this in its application to a corps. If you want an active, generous, fighting, dare-devil corps, able and willing to drive Hell before it, that corps must be possessed, and that fully, by this spirit of life. Nothing else can effectively take its place. No education, learning, Bible knowledge, theology, social amusements, or anything of the kind will be a satisfactory substitute. The corps that seeks to put any of these things in the place of life will find them a mockery, a delusion, and a snare; will find them to be only the wraps and trappings of death itself.

Spiritual Life is the essential root of every other qualification required by a Salvation Army officer.—The Army Founder.

HOME... BUILDERS

IN THE BEST SENSE OF THE WORD

LIKE the four sturdy legs of a strong kitchen table are the four parts of the Home League program, and it is encouraging to know that during the past year an increasing number of Leagues are showing a healthy growth.

The great need of the present day is, undoubtedly, the re-establishment of the Christian home and the increasing of Christian practices in the home. The rush and pressure of life leaves little time for the assembling of the family for Bible reading and prayer, even though the faster tempo makes the provision of a "quiet home" a physical as well as a spiritual necessity, if one is not to be overwhelmed, as many are.

Home League meetings are planned and worked out in a variety of ways with this need for spiritual uplift in mind. Every meeting held has a portion set apart for worship, while the majority of meetings have a spiritual appeal running through the whole program.

The building and maintaining of the family altar is being emphasized and the formation of prayer circles, working in addition to the regular Home League, is developing. The prayer circles are forging links which will make a strong chain, capable of binding heaven to earth and thus bringing the divine light into the dark places of the world. The spiritual power which can be generated in this way has not yet been tested to the full.

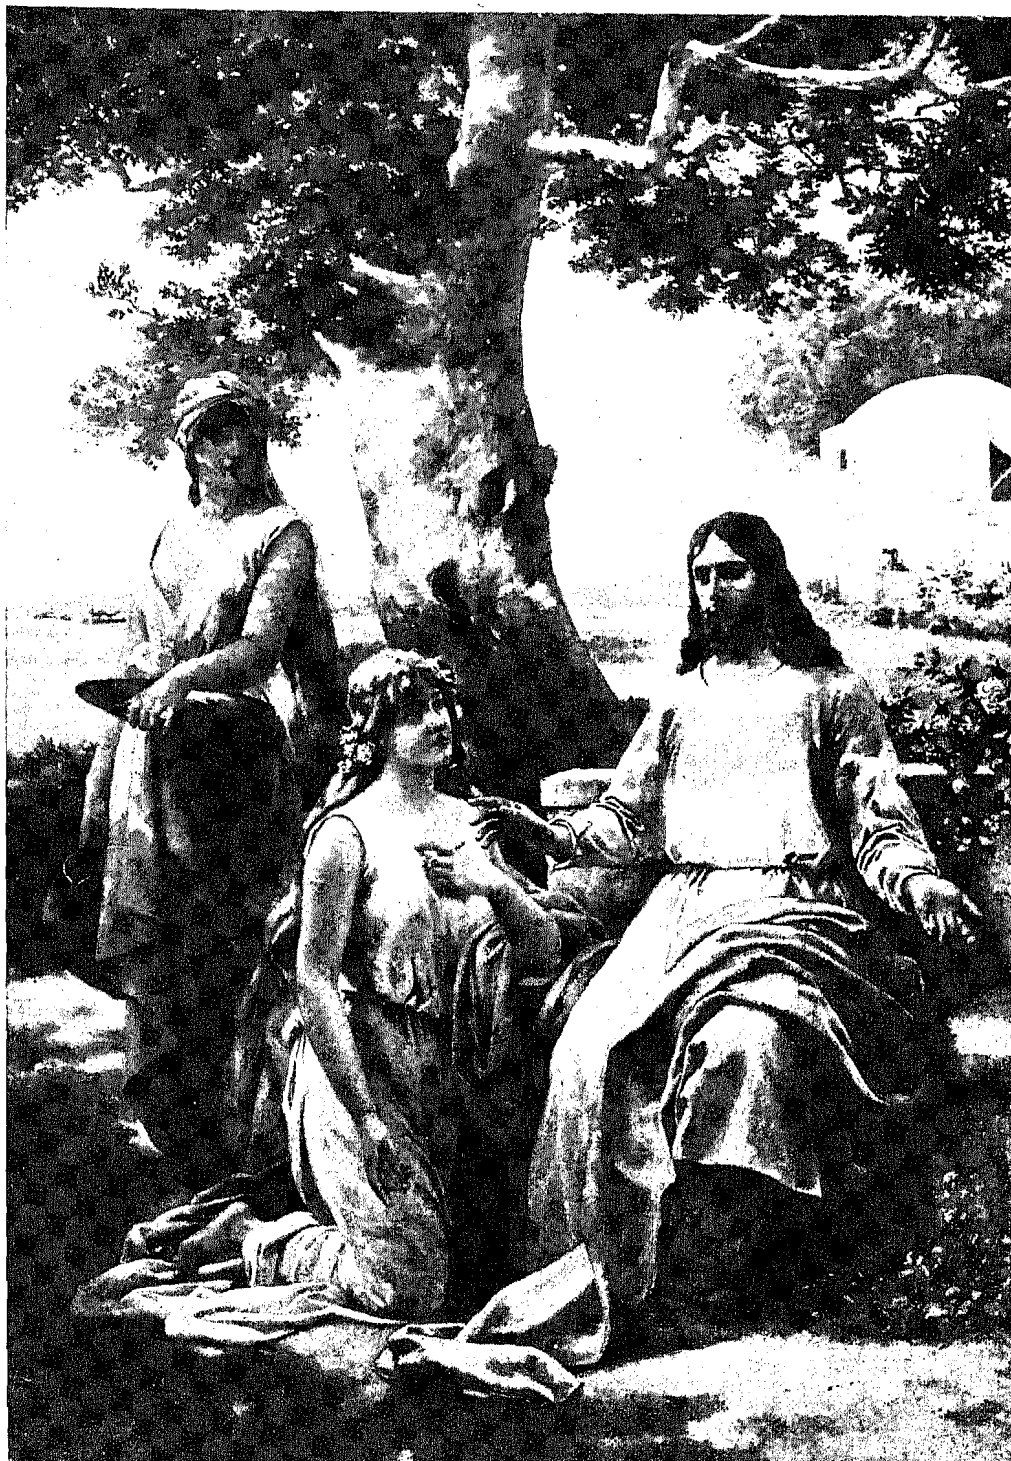

The knowledge of scientists is not required to prove the great mysteries of prayer and faith, but their secrets are readily revealed to the heart of the most humble woman who sincerely seeks to know them.

Some Particulars of the Army's Home League Activities in the Canadian Territory

THE HOME AT BETHANY...

Where Mary, Martha and Lazarus lived, was often visited by the Master, who brought to the occupants companionship, counsel and comfort. It was to Martha in her grief that Christ said, "I am the Resurrection, and the Life: he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live:—hope—inspiring words that have echoed and re-echoed down the centuries."

At 2 o'clock each day prayer circle members promise to pray for the matters on their prayer list, and there are evidences of wonderful answers to these prayers.

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL

Homes are homes the world over, and the lovely old-fashioned English cottages pictured here are no exceptions. But mere dwellings, no matter how pleasant their situation, cannot make up for discontented hearts. Only God in the home and Christ in the individual heart and life can suffice. The world to-day sorely needs Christian homes, Christian principles, and the Christian Way of Life, to which Christ's salvation leads.

In one town the Home League has instituted a monthly prayer meeting, where women of all denominations meet in prayer, and the effects are already apparent in the community.

Development along group lines provides scope for leadership by group leaders, closer comradeship and a friendly impetus in branching out and taking part in different phases of the program.

Helpful home life includes a well-run home, where meals are well cooked, and a bright, clean, happy atmosphere prevails. Attention therefore, must be given to cooking, housekeeping, health and clothing. Even handicrafts have their place, and can be developed along family lines, if desired.

Recreation has its place and the friendly chat and cup of tea enjoyed after the meetings have their place. Special days are celebrated by parties. Members' birthdays are celebrated, sometimes wedding anniversaries are featured, and an increasing number of family gatherings are being held. Picnics and yearly banquets make occasions for bringing out the best china, and enjoying life together.

Service to others, a basic need of the spiritually healthy soul, finds an outlet in a variety of projects, and what a vast mountain of distress there is today! The needy of Finland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Germany, France, as well as Britain, have been helped by parcels of food and clothing, new and old. Sick, retired officers in Britain, Canadian missionaries working in China, Korea, India and Africa and other parts have been cheered in their activities and work by the remembrance of Home Leagues in the territory.

One hundred and twenty-one Home Leagues of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales have been adopted by Leagues in Canada, Newfoundland and Bermuda, and parcels of food and clothing have been regularly sent. Reckoning each Home League at one hundred members (some have more than this), twelve thousand families have been touched, and the letters of thanks and appreciation received have been most gratifying. In addition to this, many other leagues have been adopted. A request has recently come from a little Canadian Home League to adopt a League in Germany.

Not only have officers and friends, Salvationists and non-Salvationists been helped in other countries but our own social institutions in Canada have also been helped by good deeds.

Burnt-out Families Aided

The annual winter fire toll has affected many families in this land and, time after time, the Home League has come to the rescue of burnt-out families with articles of clothing, furniture and bedding. There has also been help given to county institutions. Visits have been made to hospitals, treats given in veterans' hospitals, and many acts of loving service and kindness, some of which have been recorded in our weekly column, have been done.

THE HOME LEAGUE IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Activities in the Island Dominion

IN Newfoundland there are over two thousand, five hundred Home League members. They live in the city, in towns, on the railroad, and outport communities. We have almost one hundred Leagues, counting outpost Leagues. The membership ranges from seventy-three at one corps, to little groups of eight to ten gathering in outports where there are no corps or officers.

In larger centres the League program is carried on as in any large corps but, because of the work in which many of the women are employed in some of the outport communities, it is more difficult in the summer for the women to gather. The men have gone off to sea-fishing, the fish are brought back and cleaned and spread on the flakes, and the women have to spend much time in spreading and turning the fish to make sure that it is properly cured for the export markets. They work until late, and the Home League is a bright spot in their lives.

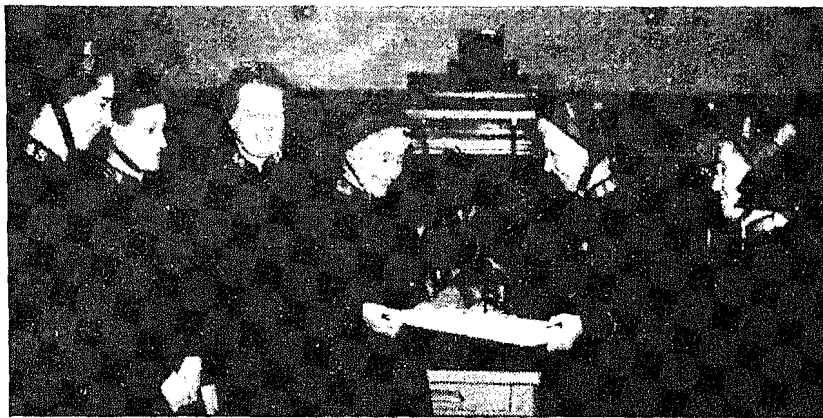

The League in Newfoundland is not only a social gathering, but it has a great spiritual challenge. In one community a woman was brought along to the meeting who had not been to a place of worship for over twenty years and, through the influences of the League, she attended a Sunday night salvation meeting. She became converted and now attends all meetings she possibly can. This same situation could be multiplied many times. Almost fifty women found the Saviour last year in Home League meetings.

In a certain outport community a tragedy occurred when a home was destroyed by fire. A Leaguer took in the family of eight, and other members gathered clothing to help the destitute family.

When forest fires swept so much of this country last year, the Home League played a heroic, if small, part in one community. While waiting for boats to evacuate the people to a nearby island for safety, several members, although nearly choked by smoke, gathered the frightened children together, and kept them under control until the boats arrived. The Army lassie officer that looks after this Home League was the last woman to leave the community.

The service of the Home League is not contained within the walls of the League room. One League thought of all the old people in the community and decided to give them an evening's entertainment. They made arrangements for them to be brought to the hall, and gave them supper and a program. Forty-four people between sixty-five and eighty years attended this event. Another League invited about thirty-five blind people to supper and an enjoyable program, thus bringing much happiness to these sightless people.

The Home League is one of the main financial aids of many of the corps in this country. Does the hall (Continued on page 12)

A LEAGUE OF HOMEMAKERS

A Message to Home League Members from the Territorial Home League President, Mrs. Commissioner Baugh

HOME League Week and Mother's Day—with what rapidity these events come round! I am so glad they are fixed to be held during the springtime of the year when the trees are budding and breaking into leaf; the bulbs are showing, and all nature is astir. I am led to exclaim with the Psalmist: "Oh Lord, how manifold are Thy works; in wisdom hast Thou made them all; the earth is full of Thy riches!"

It seems only natural that Mother's Day should fall in conjunction with Home League Week; and it is not a co-incidence that this number of the "War Cry" is dedicated to the allied interests of both, because they are so closely related. "What is home without a mother?" is a question asked and left unanswered, for it is like many such questions—easier to ask than to answer. But a home, to be worthy of the name, requires a mother of the right kind—the kind who is not only motivated by love of God and man, but also by sound judgment, and the "know how" which practice brings to those who seek to do well something they love to do.

The "know how" is something in which the Home League seeks to help the mother. The Home League is not merely a sewing-class devoted to the preparation of goods for those in need; it is a League of Home Makers seeking to teach and to learn how better to fulfil that God-given function of exalting the status of a dwelling to a true home. This end is achieved in all kinds of interesting ways; by lectures and object lessons, by competitions and suggestions, by the comparing of notes on old methods and by the trying out of modern ones. All this, and much more, is carried out against a background of prayer and praise—not forgetting the much-enjoyed cup of tea.

It is probable that in your Corps there is a Home League with Local Officers who could do with help and encouragement. Either they need helpers in planning to make the meetings bright and useful, or they need more mothers to appreciate and participate in the effects of the planning.

I invite you, if not a member, to become one—and if a member, to make Home League Week the occasion for a great forward movement in the League at your Corps.

May God bless you!

N. BAUGH,
President.

TYPICAL MISSIONARY GROUP

Attached to Edmonton Home League

SINCE its organization eighteen months ago, the Edmonton Citadel missionary group has had some interesting and instructive meetings. About twenty members meet at the various homes once a month, and a helpful talk was given by a young woman on her way to the mission field.

To assist the group in raising funds, a quilt, made by the members, was put on display and, as a result, orders were received. Since then, three quilts have been completed and others started. Mrs. Major W. Kitson and Mrs. Thoreson, a veteran comrade of the corps, have rendered valuable assistance to the group by their quilting. Mrs. A. Treen is president, Mrs. H. Pierce, vice-president and Mrs. J. Shepherd, secretary.

Since its inception, the group has sent Christmas and birthday presents to a family of missionary officers, also a food parcel to an elderly invalid officer in England. Last Christmas, members of the group made about thirty stuffed toys, animals and dolls, which were forwarded to a children's home in Singapore. Very appreciative letters have been received from the recipients of these parcels.

The recently "adopted" missionaries, Major and Mrs. B. Pedlar, are awaiting their appointment to new fields in China, and the missionary group has furnished them with an Army flag, which they will have inscribed with the Chinese characters. An interesting letter from the Major tells of the spiritual hunger of the Chinese.

Owing to pressure upon space in this issue, a number of regular feature articles and last moment reports have been held until next week.

Torrey and Mrs. A. H. Minshall, Rev. B. R. Tupper, United Memorial Church, offered the dedicatory prayer.

Mrs. A. M. Hunter, president of Grace Hospital Women's Auxiliary presented the proficiency prize to Nurse H. McLeod. Nurse McLeod expressed the appreciation of the graduating class to the Hospital Superintendent, Brigadier M. Aldridge and to the superintendent of nurses, Major C. Vey, for their interest.

The members of the graduating class are: Helena Vaughan, Halifax; Isabelle Banks, Mount Hanley; Barbara Cochran and Doris Ward, Kentville; Velda Green, Seal Cove; Ruby Marple, North East Margaree; Hannah McLeod, Indian Brook; Nina Martin, Sand Point; Shirley Mason, Ponds; Helen Whiting, St. Croix; Dorothy Isaacs, New Glasgow; Laura McMahon and Joyce Skinner, Aylesford; Hilda Nelson, Deep Brook, and Verna Saulnier, Yarmouth Centre.

GRADUATING EXERCISES AT HALIFAX

Grace Hospital Nurses Receive Their Diplomas

THE President of Dalhousie University, Dr. A. E. Kerr, gave the address to the graduating class of Halifax Grace Maternity Hospital on a recent Tuesday evening at St. Andrew's Church Hall. The speaker touched briefly on the scientific and social advance of the present day and expressed the hope that they be used for the betterment of civilization.

Dr. Kerr congratulated the graduating class members on their success. Incidentally, the hospital is affiliated with Dalhousie University, providing facilities for the obstetrical training of the medical students.

The Divisional Commander, Lieut.-Colonel W. Carruthers, introduced the Territorial Young People's Secretary, Brigadier T. Mundy, who acted as chairman of the program of music, presentations and speeches. Prayer was offered by Major W. Hawkes and the Scripture was read by Major E. Hutchinson.

Dr. W. G. Colwell led the nurses in the Florence Nightingale Pledge. The presentation of pins and diplomas was made by Mrs. C. L.

Toronto West Division: Eva Batten, Lippincott; Ruth Lewer, Rown-tree.

AT A GREAT LAKES' PORT

A great week-end for youth of Sarnia, Ont. (Adjutant and Mrs. J. R. Sloan), was conducted under the leadership of the Territorial Young People's Secretary and Mrs. Brigadier T. Mundy. The comrades were full of faith and from the commencement of the Youth Rally until the prayer meeting on Sunday night, the meetings were full of interest and blessing.

The young people took an active part in speaking, reading the Scriptures, and leading the periods of chorus singing which were a highlight of the week-end. The band and songsters also gave excellent support.

Brigadier and Mrs. T. Mundy's singing, concertina - playing and earnest counsel, were used of God to bring results and there was rejoicing over ten seekers.

PRESIDENT HARRY TRUMAN Shows His Interest in Religion and Youth

PRESIDENT TRUMAN stands well with his pastor. That was apparent when Dr. Edward Hughes Pruden of First Baptist Church, Washington, D.C., was asked: "What sort of a churchman is the president?"

Dr. Pruden paused for only a moment before he smiled and said: "I wish I had more people in my congregation like him. He's always pleasant and I've been greatly impressed by the sincerity of his religion."

"Yet—and this is a point I'd like to emphasize," the minister continued, "the president doesn't wish to capitalize on it and he never seeks to make a public impression."

"In the first place, I think you should know the president has never transferred his membership from his little home town church in Independence, Mo.," the minister said.

"But he started to attend our church when he first came to Washington and he's been fairly regular in his attendance since then. Sometimes he comes with his wife and daughter, Margaret. But more often they go to the Episcopal church while he attends ours."

Asked about the seating of the president, Dr. Pruden said, "That little detail is taken care of by secret service men. Usually he has a pew about two-thirds of the way back from the pulpit and a little left of centre."

Dr. Pruden said he came to appreciate President Truman's keen interest in children at recent Promotion Day exercises.

"We were going to have the pupils of the Sunday School in and I felt I ought to warn the president the service wouldn't be as quiet as usual," the minister related. "Oh, that's all right," Mr. Truman told me. 'I know how children are. Is there anything I can do to help?'

"It might be well," I said, 'if you'd give them a little talk.' The president agreed and, when the time came, talked to the children from in front of the altar. I don't know when we've had a better service."

Dr. Pruden said he visits President Truman at the White House as he visits his other parishioners.

MOTHER'S DAY (Sunday, May 9)

One of the best assets a young man or young woman could possibly have is a praying mother. Do you also follow her example?

YOUTH COUNCILS IN THE TERRITORY

Held at Various Centres

FROM seventeen Nova Scotian corps young people gathered for annual councils under the leadership of the Territorial Young People's Secretary, Brigadier T. H. Mundy. On Saturday all were inspired by an illustrated address given by the Brigadier, entitled "William Booth — King's Messenger." Occurring as this did on the anniversary of the Founder's birth, the address was timely. Participating also were Halifax North Corps Cadets under Lieutenant Edith Smith, who presented a descriptive item: "Building The Salvation Army Crest." Halifax I Singing Company sang a spirited number.

Happy crowds gathered in the School for the Blind auditorium on Sunday. Introduced by the Divisional Commander, Lieut.-Colonel W. J. Carruthers, the council-leader, who himself was formerly stationed in Nova Scotia, was quickly at ease. The day began and ended with a theme-chorus, "Talk About Jesus." A lofty note was struck by the Brigadier in the morning session and was sustained throughout the day.

Selected young people took prominent part in the sessions and made an excellent impression for Christ. Those taking special part were Candidate A. Appleton, Halifax North, who spoke on "The Message of the Cross"; Songster S. Hill, Halifax I, whose paper on "The Army Flag," brought blessing to her listeners; and Sister E. Robinson, New Glasgow, whose topic was "The Salvation Army Uniform." To crown the day many young people heeded the challenge and yielded to Christ, and the meeting closed with an old-time "hallelujah march."

The Divisional Young People's Secretary and Mrs. Major J. Wood, gave assistance, and were well supported by corps and local officers.

THE magnetism of the Cross was evident when young people from nine corps of Toronto East Division recently gathered for councils at Belleville, Ont. The Saturday evening program, at which Brigadier H. Newman presided, was preceded by a corps cadet supper during which delegates were introduced to the recently-appointed Divisional Corps Cadet Guardian, Mrs. G. Kennedy, Brigadier O. Welbourn, Major M. Littley, Divisional Young People's Secretary, and other officers.

The demonstration was suitably varied with band selections by Belleville Band (Bandmaster D. Wardle), a vocal quartet by four young women-comrades from Kingston, and instrumental quartet by Belleville bandmen, a selection by Napanee representatives, and three items portrayed by Campbellford, Belleville and Cobourg respectively.

Faith Rewarded

Faith for an effective day reached a high level as extra chairs were necessary to accommodate the morning crowd. Delegates from various corps were welcomed by the Divisional Commander who spoke on "Messages and Messengers." Brigadier Welbourn illustrated the topic with chalk drawings, and other delegates took part, including a paper by Corps Cadet R. Boorman.

In the afternoon Brigadier Welbourn spoke on a missionary theme and more than a dozen young men and women responded to the challenges of service.

At night Major Littley, Sister E. Smith, Trenton; Sister N. Smith, Peterborough, and Corps Cadet H. McBride, Kingston, took part, and Brigadier Newman called for sur-renders, followed by a score or more of victories.

Monday evening, Major Littley spoke to the officers and young people's workers. An afternoon council was addressed by Brigadier O. Welbourn.

ANCIENT LEGAL DOCUMENT

Tablets Speak of Adoption and Divorce

AS a part of a restoration process Professor Stephens, of Yale, U.S.A., bakes clay tablets on which the people of Babylon, more than 4,000 years ago, wrote their letters and documents. Babylon's scribes wrote with a stylus on tablets of moist clay. When dried the tablets became almost imperishable. But now, after four or five thousand years, they are covered with foreign matter and illegible.

The Professor cooks the tablets in his electric oven until they are so hard that he can safely pick off the dirt, and read the mail the Babylonians wrote each other. As curator of Yale's Babylonian Collection, largest in the U.S., Professor Stephens has the responsibility of restoring and translating some 25,000 tablets. Because his letters are among the oldest in the world, he must be able to read and write languages that were dead and forgotten centuries before Latin was known.

To clean the tablets the Professor first places them in a special electric oven, where they are baked for three days in a temperature of 1,400 degrees F. This burns and loosens centuries' accumulation of mud and sand. Thoroughly baked, the tablet is as hard as a rock and can be safely immersed in water for two days to dissolve remaining matter, mostly salt crystals. The tablet is then scraped clean under a microscope with a needle.

To protect their legal contracts, Babylonians enclosed them in clay envelopes. Then they wrote the contract again on the envelope. When any disagreement arose, the envelope could be broken and compared with the tablet inside to see if there had been any tampering.

3,500-year-old envelope to translate its inner tablet. The tablet read, "Apil-Sin the older brother, and Irra-igmil the younger brother, are the children of Manatum and Urziedina. If Urziedina to Manatum, his wife, 'Thou art not my wife' shall say, Urziedina shall forfeit the house and the children. If Apil-Sin and Irra-igmil to Manatum their mother shall say, 'Thou art not my mother,' for silver she shall sell them."

The announcement that the boys are children of the couple is the Babylonian formula for adoption. To proclaim legally, "Thou art not my wife" is the method of divorce. Apparently this strangely unilateral agreement worked out well, as the envelope remained unbroken for 3,500 years.

CANDLES FOR MANY PURPOSES

ONE of the oldest trades in London is candle making, and one firm in Lambeth has been making them since Tudor days.

Think of it! 400 years since their first candle was lighted! Before the first real map of England was

FERRYMAN'S MILEAGE

GEORGE Bryant, aged 65, of Woolwich, has travelled more than 75,000 miles by boat—all within 300 yards of shore. He has just retired from 51 years' work on the Woolwich Free Ferry, during which time he reckons to have crossed the quarter-mile stretch of Thames water more than 300,000 times.

"My family," he said, "has worked on the ferry since the service began in 1889. I joined my father there at 14 and now I have left my son to carry on."

drawn, when half the population was living in huts of wattle and mud, when one could be hanged for stealing a hawk's egg, these people were making candles, and are making them to-day.

Many varieties of candles were made. There were "deck" candles, little stumpy things, with a broad base, used 'tween decks of a ship.

Then there were the special carriage candles—"post moons" they were called, behind which Britain's ancestors jogged to and fro in the days before the motor car and the electric battery came in; special little candles used for sealing let-which is made in exactly the same way today as it was when Henry VIII was king. Made by hand, more than half pure beeswax, made to measure, the exact size that each church requires.

With what care these candle-makers must have chosen their first site on the south bank of the Thames. Close by the great palace of the Archbishops of Canterbury, which needed scores of candles for even one winter's night, across the water the greater Palace of Whitehall, needing hundreds for the same hours, rushes growing on the reedy banks of the river, all ready to make the wick of their tallow dips and, running past their door, the road to the South Downs, the great sheep country from which the finest tallow came.

The Archbishops are leaving Lambeth Palace, the Palace of Whitehall and the rushes are gone from Thames-side, and tallow is no longer used for candles. But these candle-makers of Lambeth are still at work, sending their goods out across the world, not, it is true, from the spot where they worked through the centuries for their factory in Upper Marsh was destroyed by bombs in 1941. Undaunted, they moved out to a London suburb but are now planning their return to Lambeth, to the spot where they have made their candles through the reigns of fifteen kings.

A MESSAGE TO HOME LEAGUERS

From the Home League World President

AS your World President, I am very glad to have the opportunity to send you my greetings in this way, and to assure you of my desire by all the means in my power to foster the splendid bond created by the Home League between the women of many lands.

Naturally I am proud of the fact that my dear mother (Mrs. General Higgins, living in honored retirement in the United States), was the secretary of the first branch of the Home League. Her keen concern and care for the League in its inception and development could not but engage my own interest. Then through the years that have followed, as I have seen and shared in the gatherings and functions of the League in more than one country, I have gained a greater appreciation of this helpful fellowship of women under Salvation Army auspices.

My mind is dwelling upon the variety of homes I have seen and shall be visiting during the next few weeks—rich homes, poor homes, tidy homes and homes not so tidy, happy homes, and probably some that are not so happy, although this may sometimes be cleverly hidden. Already we have visited countries where customs and conditions greatly vary. Now shortly we shall be in the New World, and different methods and standards again will meet the eye.

All this is very interesting, and I can see it would be impossible to have a set rule for homemaking when conditions are so different, and often difficult. What must be considered of first importance by homemakers in every land is the SPIRIT of the home.

I read a phrase once which I thought most apt—Homespun religion. The day of homespun clothes is receding; homemade furniture is only used when no other is available; homespun religion is timeless and always necessary. I fear many people go from instead of to the home for their religion.

Our standard must always be that the home is the centre of spiritual activity. Where this is a fact, those in the home have before them the example of goodness, happiness, peace and security.

I am increasingly interested in the Home League programs that are now being prepared and used. These are essential to our progress, and as I move about the Army world, I want to hear and know more about them. In our efforts to progress, we must never lose sight of our objective—CHRIST THE HEAD OF THE HOME. Christ in the home is the universal need of to-day.

I pray God to inspire, guide, and bless you all.

League of Mercy Rally

Activities in Ontario's "Ambitious City"

RECENTLY the energetic group of League of Mercy workers of Hamilton held their annual public meeting and supper. Over sixty workers gathered for the supper, which was kindly arranged by Major L. Collins and her workers at the Wellington Street Citadel.

Eight institutions are regularly visited, and meetings are conducted in some of them. During the past six months a company meeting has been held with the children in the children's ward at the General Hospital each Sunday morning, and once a month with the children at the sanatorium. Envoy and Mrs. P. Cousins and several young people have been responsible for this.

Treasurer Mrs. B. Evenden read a financial report for the year's work, and Secretary Mrs. Wheeler read the statistical report. Life member Mrs. Couse presented a number of League of Mercy pins to new members. The Wellington Street band and songster brigade (Bandmaster Gibson) assisted greatly with their music, and Lieut.-Colonel J. Acton, who piloted the proceedings, eulogized the efforts of the workers. A quartet of youthful members sang a helpful number.

The Divisional Secretary, Mrs. Acton, outlined the work of the League of Mercy, and gave evidence of the appreciation of those visiting, also of visible results in the salvation of souls. She appealed for more workers, especially among the younger men and women.

SALVATIONISTS AND FLOOD VICTIMS

Valleys Filled With Ice-cakes

BROMPTONVILLE, a little town on the St. Francis river, was flooded when the river became jammed with ice floes. People were awakened early one morning to find masses of ice bumping and grinding at the lower stories of their homes. Some houses were carried bodily away, while others were ground to fragments; fortunately, no lives were lost.

When the corps officer of Sherbrooke, Adjutant H. McCombs, accompanied by the Divisional Young People's Secretary, Major F. Moulton, arrived on the scene they found the waters had subsided and the valley was filled with huge blocks of ice. Bulldozers were at work, clearing up the debris.

First the officers contacted local authorities, found out what was needed and returned to Sherbrooke, where the Divisional Commander, Lieut.-Colonel M. Junker, was phoned. The Colonel in turn contacted the Industrial department in Montreal, so that the two were able to return to the flood area with blankets, clothing, shoes, and so on. Major W. Joyce, of the Industrial department, sent out a radio appeal, the stuff given in response was collected by Salvation Army trucks, and was delivered in Bromptonville the next day.

Commissioner and Mrs. Orames also conducted Sunday's meetings and, in the evening, during a well fought prayer-meeting, a number of seekers knelt at the Mercy-Seat. During the day "specials" visited the company meeting, the Commissioner giving a timely message.

Young people's band week-end was a successful event. On Saturday night an excellent program was given by the senior band, and the guest soloist was Bandsman E. Miller, of Chicago. Captain V. Vie, of Pontiac, presided. Sunday meetings were well attended, and Bandsman Miller brought much blessing with his message in song. The visiting soloist also took part in a Sunday afternoon program, when items were given by the young people's band and other young people.

FOR YOUR NOTEBOOK

Many will argue for Christianity, write for it, fight for it, die for it. Anything but live for it.

Time spent in prayer is not wasted but invested.

THE ARMY MOTHER

No reference to Home and Mother, so far as Salvationists are concerned, is complete without mention of the Army Mother, Catherine Booth, who so valiantly led the way to a larger freedom for women. She was the forerunner of the great "Army within an Army," who wear the familiar uniform to-day in all parts of the world.

Major Harold Martin, Vancouver Men's Hostel, is vacating the Gore Avenue Hostel at the end of this month. Some of the men housed there will be transferred to the Thurlow Street Hostel and a small number will go to the Industrial Centre on 4th Avenue. Thus will disappear one of the historical landmarks of The Salvation Army in Vancouver. The old hostel is to be torn down and the site will become part of the new citadel property. From WITHIN WALLS

A Series of Meditations by Major Marion Neill

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

OUTSIDE a miracle is being performed. Modern machinery is making possible the task. The weatherman is making long range reports to the foreman on the job. Fifty men are straining every fiber of their beings to beat the predicted cool spell. Cement is poured in. All is finished, the tarpaulins are placed, the salamanders are lighted and in a few hours the "cool wave" strikes. We have won a battle against time!

INSIDE the routine is carried on; Deadly Routine we call it. Why? Because in it's performance we so often lower our sights—lose our vision—and lose our interest in the world outside. On duty, off duty and on again, and within a stone's throw a miracle is being performed. And we are untouched, until someone directs our attention, and then we, too, raise our eyes occasionally and view the rising edifice.

In this business of living it is easy to get into the rut of routine and forget those aspirations which brought us hence. While our head and hands use routine as the vehicle through which our efforts are made, let it not become our master. May our hearts constantly be uplifted in faith to the Great Miracle Worker of all ages.

General and Mrs. A. Orsborn Farewell for North American Tour

THE General and Mrs. Orsborn, who have sailed for Canada and the U.S.A., accompanied by Commissioner Joseph B. Smith (International Secretary) farewelled from the International Headquarters knee drill on Tuesday, April 20. The Chief of the staff (Commissioner J. Allan) revealed that the tour will entail more than fifty-nine meetings, a number of broadcasts and officers' councils, including staff councils for the North American Continent, Central and South America and the West Indies. Mrs. Orsborn spoke briefly of her years of Army service in the Western Hemisphere and the General referred to his sense of responsibility in connection with this important campaign. "The Army has a part to play in a changing world," he said, "although that part was not an easy one. Men have stared so long at 'the god of this world' that they are blinded to spiritual things."

The first councils for ten years for bandmasters and songster leaders took place at Mildmay (London), and were led by the General. Some 800 delegates from all parts of the country and a number of overseas visitors gathered for a long-to-be-remembered occasion and much inspiration came from the General's Bible addresses and talks by Mrs. Orsborn, the Chief of the Staff, the British Commissioner and others.

The Clapton Congress Hall was packed to capacity for the Saturday festival in which five bands (including the International Staff Band) and two songster brigades participated. The General presided. New music was played and announcement was made of the winners of the International Music Competition (1947). They were as follows:

Section 1: Ordinary Series Journals—compositions for Festivals or General Use: Bandmaster B. Langworthy (British Territory), Colonel W. Kitching (Australia South), Bandmaster F. Andersson (Sweden).

Section 2: Ordinary Series Band Journal—compositions for Salvation and Devotional Meetings: Brother F. Inglis (Australia South), Bandsman G. Blomberg (Sweden), Songster Leader W. Walkden (British Territory).

Section 3: Second Series Journals—compositions for Musical Festivals or General Use: Bandmaster C. Dove (British Territory), Adjutant H. Main (British Territory).

Section 4: Second Series—Marches: Bandmaster C. Dove (British Territory), Bandmaster J. Pattison (British Territory).

W. G. Harris, Lieut.-Colonel.

GENERAL ALBERT ORSBORN, International Leader of The Salvation Army who, with Mrs. Orsborn, will visit important centres in Canada during May, as well as conduct staff councils in Chicago, is shown in his office at International Headquarters, London, receiving from Lieut.-Colonel Whang Chong Yuz, Chief Secretary for Korea, a scroll of loyalty from the officers in that land. Others in the group are the Chief of the Staff (Commissioner J. Allan), Commissioner H. D. Gore, and Lieut.-Colonel C. Sylvester.

World Assembly of Churches

THE Territorial Commander has agreed to a request from the World Council of Churches for all churches and Salvation Army centres to offer prayer during the Whitsunday (May 16) meetings for divine blessing to rest upon the first Assembly of the World Council of Churches to be held at Amsterdam, Holland.

A REQUEST FROM GERMANY

Made By Man Converted Through An Open-air Meeting in Canada

THE following letter, addressed to Territorial Headquarters, has been received from a correspondent in the British Zone, Germany:

"My dear Friends.—No doubt you will be surprised to receive a letter from Germany, but it was in Toronto that I had my eyes opened to the light one Saturday evening over twenty years ago on the corner of Yonge and Albert Streets, by members of The Salvation Army.

His Life Was Changed

"I was a lost soul before that time, but since that night my life has been changed, and even in the hardest time I have never lost my faith in God. Owing to my marriage in 1935 I returned to Germany, and met with much misfortune, as in the place we lived we had to leave everything behind. But we were glad that we managed to escape to the British zone. I have been in hospital since 1944 owing to the effect of war, am married and have a girl and a boy aged 11 and 12.

English Literature Lost

"I do not write for the purpose of begging and asking for kindness, but having lost all my English literature and Bible, I would be very thankful if some member of The Salvation Army would have enough interest to send me some English literature, and, if possible, a Bible. Please accept my many thanks in advance.

Editorial Note: A Bible has been secured for this correspondent, and forwarded from the Chief Secretary's Department.

RE-UNITED WITH MOTHER

A "Missing Persons" Incident

AN officer stationed at a corps in British Columbia writes:

Two days after arriving in a Western town from Norway with her husband and small children, Mrs. D— called to see my wife and me, asking if we could locate her two daughters of a previous marriage whom she had left twelve years ago when she was divorced from her first husband. Her visit to Norway had been prolonged by the war, and she had lost all trace of her daughters.

Following down certain valuable "tips," a good deal of letter-writing was engaged in, one inquiry going to the corps officer in another British Columbian town where it had been ascertained "daughter No. 1" lived. Her sister happened to be visiting the home, and the father also lived there. My letter regarding the mother was "devoured" by the girls, and they decided to try to see her at once.

Unannounced, the two girls arrived at my quarters, saying "We want to see mother!" I drove them across to the house where the woman lived, and we found that, tired out with moving in, she had retired early to bed. However, when she heard her two daughters were there to see her, she rose gladly to welcome them. I had just a glimpse of the delight of reunion—the two daughters, hugging their mother, and weeping for joy. The mother fainted, but quickly revived and talked steadily of her longing and love for her loved ones. Arrangements have been made for periodical meetings between mother and daughters.

Have You Remembered The Salvation Army In Your Will?

SINCE the year 1865 The Salvation Army has demonstrated its effectiveness in dealing with human problems, distress and maladjustments, through its varied and highly-organized network of character-building activities.

The Salvation Army is legally competent to accept bequests.

Upon request, information or advice will be furnished by

Commissioner C. Baugh,

Territorial Commander,

20 Albert Street,

Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

HOME League week this year is planned from May 10 to 16, with date adjustments necessary in some parts of the territory. Plans to make the most of this week are well in hand which, it is believed, will make a forward move.

With summer approaching, Home League local officers' camps are also coming into prominence. The territorial camp at Jackson's Point is planned to take place from June 22 to June 25, and every effort will be made to excel the helpful times of last year. Five Ontario divisions will be sending delegates to the camp, and the divisional home league secretaries will be playing a great part in the program. The are running out, but nothing daunted, Miss Bowen and her sister are prepared to purchase wool so that the work may be continued. Miss Bowen also sends monthly parcels to retired officers in Britain and Yugoslavia.

Cradle Roll Members Secured

Good news continues to come from Saskatchewan. Meetings have been well attended at Nipawin, with seasonable events enjoyed. As a result of reading an article on the Home League and the cradle roll, at a meeting conducted by the Divisional Secretary, Mrs. Brigadier F. Merrett, several new cradle roll members were secured. Mrs. Wall,

Miss F. Bowen, a Helping Hand worker in Toronto, has again brought in a quantity of knitted goods for overseas. Wool supplies a Home League member has also commenced meetings which are being well attended, for children in her home, assisted by other League members.

Mrs. Adjutant E. Bruce, reporting for the Saskatoon Citadel League, records interesting events taking place, also the special help rendered by the Home League Auxiliary, composed of younger folk. Helpful activity is also mentioned in the divisional paper at Meadow Lake, Indian Head, Saskatoon West side, and Prince Albert.

Newfoundland news speaks of the successful divisional effort towards the erection of St. John's College.

Over 350 articles were received from Home Leagues, and were of a particularly high quality. It is good to note that the prizes won were well distributed among the corps. A special program was given to a packed house in the evening, and tea was served at the conclusion.

linking up of women who move from the vicinity of the Home League to a part of the country where easy access is not available. Its purpose is also for the contacting of those who live in lonely spots, small villages or on farms where church privileges are not available.

Through the medium of a monthly letter of inspiration and cheer, members are kept in touch with Home League matters, and many testify to the spiritual help thus received. Often the letters are passed round to the neighbors.

Anyone not living near a Home League and desiring to join this Christian fellowship of the outer circle may make application to do so to the nearest Salvation Army Officer, or direct to the Territorial Home League Secretary, 471 Jarvis Street, Toronto.

Major and Mrs. A. Thomas and their two children, at present furloughing in Canada, are happy to express their gratitude for help received from Canada during their lonely service in the most southerly city in the world, Punta Arena, in Chile.

Major Thomas described the day when the Christmas parcel arrived from the Alberta Avenue Home League in Edmonton. The customs' official, knowing the Adjutant, was glad to hand over the parcel without a duty charge. On arrival at home, the parcel was unpacked on the floor amid a chorus of delighted exclamations from the children and a few tears from mother as the lovely wrappings, ribbons and seals were revealed.

A letter from Captain Frank Ta-boika of Buenos Aires, South America, says the work is making progress, and the opportunities for service are many. It is mid-summer there now.

Such activities cannot be carried out without money and goods, and the women, many of them in poor circumstances themselves, have sacrificed to give and raise the funds necessary to carry out the service projects. Of course, there is a lot of fun in doing this which brings joy to those who are working.

Sales of work, silver teas, bazaars, talent schemes and a hundred-and-one ways have been employed for raising money for the heavy postage rates of the parcels sent, and a great wealth of love and generosity have been poured out for the needy in all climes. Thanks are due to the devoted band of local officers and members who have contributed so much in this way.

The spiritual program, running parallel to every other activity, has brought cause for rejoicing, as the following incidents indicate:

A woman in a small Ontario town began to attend the Home League last July, her first contact with the Army. She also attended the corps meetings, and was converted in November. The same night she led her mother to Christ. The following day a euchre drive was planned to take place in her home. However, so definite was her conversion that she called up each woman and told her there would be no euchre as she had commenced to serve Christ. She was enrolled as a Salvation soldier on Easter Sunday night last.

In another corps in Newfoundland, a husband, wife and sister were enrolled as full-fledged members of The Salvation Army. Their introduction to the corps was through the Home League and, previous to this, they had not attended a place of worship for twenty years.

Co-operation with the cradle roll, and special activities for the young people have been evident, and many dedications have taken place in Home League meetings. A mothers' club in one corps caters for the needs of young mothers, who are happy to gather and discuss their problems and receive advice on any matters.

For the present the Home League holds encouragement and, for the future, vast possibilities of useful service in the building of Christian homes through the building of Christian character—all in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ Himself, and for the extension of His kingdom.

Of Interest To Homemakers

MOTHER'S DAY THOUGHTS

By Mrs. General Higgins (R)

WHEN I look around the Army and think of all the bandmen who are never late for the open-air meetings—

Of all the girls who are hurried off to the places in the corps—

Of all the children who are sent clean and smart to their Sunday meetings—

Of all the husbands who are kept happy and healthy and free for their heavy duties in the Army—

Of all the "little people" who are taught and trained to think of Sunday as God's day, and brought by mothers to worship—

Of all the miracles of redemption in which mothers' prayers play so great a part—

I am inclined to conclude that Mother's Day is one of the most significant occasions of the year.

To me this day stands for an immeasurable power behind what is seen of the Army's forces—power of prayer, power of self-sacrifice, power of humble, self-effacing following of Christ—driving power for the Kingdom of Heaven, without which we should be poor indeed.

MOTHER'S SHARE

MRS. Theodore Roosevelt said on one occasion at a dinner party: "The more children a woman has the more unselfish she is sure to be. A teacher said to a little boy: 'James, suppose your mother made a peach pie, and there were ten of you at the table—your mother and father and eight children—how much of the pie would you get?"

"A ninth, ma'am," James answered.

"No, no, James. Pay attention," said the teacher. "There are ten of you—ten, remember. Don't you know your fractions?"

"Yes, ma'am," said James, "I know my fractions, but I know my mother, too. She'd say she didn't want no pie."

MY MOTHER

WE read about the mothers of the days of long ago, With their gentle, wrinkled faces and their hair as white as snow. They were "middle-aged" at forty, and at fifty donned lace caps, And at sixty clung to shoulder shawls and loved their little naps. But I love the modern mother who can share in all the joys, And who understands the problems of her growing girls and boys; She may boast that she is sixty, (Continued foot of column 4)

A BOY'S CREED

I Believe In My Mother

I BELIEVE in her loving heart. She has been to me through all the years the one who, no matter what my mistakes and my awkwardness, has given me without stint the full share of her affectionate devotion. She has loved me when I grieved her, when I must have been a disappointment to her, when I have been ugly and ungainly and always when other things failed I have been certain that the shelter of her love would not fail me.

I believe in her enduring faith. She has never ceased to believe that her children would do the right thing and be the right kind of children under all circumstances, and that faith of hers in us has risen up before us in the face of many a temptation and helped us to stand true.

I believe in her conquering courage. I have never seen her daunted or defeated. She has never struck her sails in fear. When the battle goes hardest and her physical strength seems at the lowest ebb, then it is that she summons the unconquerable powers of her soul and keeps on and on until the unselfish purpose in her heart has been realized. If it be that in the years to come when I am a man, there is to stand at my side some woman, as my wife, it is my determination that she resemble my mother in her qualities of mind and heart.

I believe in my mother.

MUCH-LOVED DAY

Anna Jarvis's Opinion

"IT is the only sentiment, they tell me, of which no one is ashamed," said Miss Anna Jarvis, founder of Mother's Day, on one occasion, when accounting for the phenomenal spread of the observance of Mother's Day.

"Boys and men, even some women," she said, "will often not acknowledge the best that is in them, but no one will deny his affection for his mother. It is upon this feeling that the success of the day depends."

but her heart is twenty-three—My glorious, bright-eyed mother, who is keeping young with me.
—Florence Howard Wolcott.

Sweet Will of God

SWEET Will of God, in Thee my MIND reposes,
For my most restless questionings Thy Mind encloses
When fear would pierce my armored faith with stings.
Then in the shelt'ring cradle of Thy will
My most tormenting thoughts are hushed and still.

SWEET Will of God, in Thee my HEART reposes,
And yields to that dear tyranny Thy love imposes:
For all these warm and earthly loves of mine
Are portioned by Thy fingers—Love Divine!
Yet they are but the ray, and Thou the Spark
That kindles lamps of love within the dark.

SWEET Will of God, in Thee my LIFE reposes.
I walk with joyous gait the road Thy Will discloses,
Nor linger in lush pasture, nor green plain;
Was not Thine own path sorrow, ill and pain?
With Thy Companioning, 'Tis sacred sod,
For I am walking with the Son of God.

PETERBORO'S SIXTY-THIRD ANNIVERSARY

Stirring Meetings Led by Commissioner E. Pugmire

PETERBOROUGH Temple Corps commenced its 63rd anniversary celebrations with a supper, when 270 comrades enjoyed an evening of fellowship. The Divisional Commander and Mrs. Brigadier H. Newman were present. Features of the evening were the retirement of Treasurer J. Cunningham (who has served as a local officer of the corps for nearly forty years) and the installation of the new sergeant-major, A. Wells.

On Saturday Commissioner and Mrs. E. Pugmire were tendered a civic dinner, at which Mayor W. Owens presided, and extended to them a hearty welcome.

A great march of witness through the main street heralded the commencement of the celebrations. The band, led by the Army and national flags, played stirring marches that set the crowds gathering. The band was supported by the soldiery, then came the young people's corps led by the young people's band, followed by companies of Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies.

Representative Welcome

The Temple was filled for the welcome meeting, Brigadier Newman presiding and presenting Commissioner and Mrs. Pugmire to an enthusiastic and appreciative audience. Sergeant-Major Wells and Young People's Sergeant-Major R. Routly expressed a welcome from the senior and young people's corps respectively. The corps' musical forces participated, and Mrs. M. Braund sang "Lord of every perfect gift." Mrs. Pugmire's words of greeting and the Commissioner's stirring address were of inspiration.

Sunday's meetings were outstanding. At the early morning kneel-drill there was promise of the presence and blessing of the Lord. The holiness meeting was a rich feast, and God blessed in full measure the ministry of the visitors. "Keep yourselves in the love of God" was the theme of Mrs. Pugmire's word, and the Commissioner's challenge to all to strive to reach the highest plane of Christian faith created spiritual desires.

The citizens' rally on Sunday afternoon was one of the highlights of the week-end. The Canadian Legion, led by the pipe band, marched through the streets to the Temple, whilst the Temple Band led the members of a local order.

The building was packed. Mr. Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., was presented by Brigadier Newman, and his kindly remarks concerning the work of The Salvation Army were of encouragement. Mayor Owens brought congratulations and greetings on behalf of the city.

Messages of congratulation were given from Hon. Harold Scott, M.P., and Dr. James Semple of the Ministerial Association. The newly-decorated Temple, its beauty enhanced by the floral tributes of many comrades in memory of loved ones who fought so valiantly for the Cause in bygone days, was rededicated to the service of God and humanity in a compelling and impressive service led by Brigadier Newman. Band and songsters participated, then a gripping and interesting address, "The Flag Still Flies," was given by the Commissioner. The appreciation which welled up in the heart of every listener was ably expressed by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. Members of the Ministerial Association taking part were Reverends C. Boyd, I. Morgan and Archdeacon C. Balfour.

Sunday evening's service drew a capacity crowd, Brigadier Newman leading the early part of the meeting, which was broadcast. Mrs. Pugmire read the Scripture lesson and the Commissioner gave a message over the air. The Commissioner expounded the Word, basing his thoughts on an episode from the life of Jesus. Christ, the Giver of the Water of Life, was presented with vivid reality, and one soul found peace at the Mercy-Seat.

Friends of the Corps

A period of praise and testimony followed, when officers who entered training from the corps testified. The corps officer, Major C. Watt, expressed the joy of the comrades at having them with us. Former Peterborough officers were present in the persons of Mrs. Brigadier J. McElhiney and Mrs. Brigadier A. Smith. Officers who had soldiered at Peterborough were Mrs. Major A. Bunton (U.S.A.), Mrs. Major J. Clark, Captain Irene Jones, Mrs. Brigadier O. Welbourn, Mrs. Major J. Wells and Lieutenant M. Green. Messages were also received from Lieut.-Colonel A. Goodwin, Captain D. Routly and Captain and Mrs. J. Craig.

The Chief Secretary and Mrs.

WELCOME TO THE NEW WORLD

The following message was sent to the General and Mrs. Orsborn and party to await their arrival in New York:

"We join in affectionate welcome to the North American continent. Our faith runs high for seasons of blessing and inspiration. We shall do all we can to help you.

Commissioner C. Baugh,
On behalf of myself, Mrs. Baugh and Staff, also rank and file of the Canadian Territory."

Mrs. Major W. Selva, Ottawa III Corps, has been bereaved of her mother who passed away recently.

R.O.L. PIONEER

MRS. Commandant Jackson was promoted to Glory in her ninetieth year. Mrs. Jackson was one of the first to join the Retired Officers' League in Vancouver, and was the oldest member, never missing a meeting when able to attend. Her cheerful, humorous and optimistic spirit was a tonic to all.

Mrs. Jackson was born in London, England, and was the daughter of a Congregational minister. With her husband, Hugh Jackson, she labored in the Western States and Canada, and also spent a number of years in the Northern British Columbia Mission Work.

The promoted comrade was a refined, gentle little woman, and her comrades will miss her greatly. She was buried under the auspices of the Retired Officers' League, Major E. Fitch of the Citadel Corps giving the address.

MAJOR H. CAMERON

Promoted to Glory

MAJOR Henry Cameron, veteran of many field and divisional appointments in Canada, and retired since 1930, was promoted to Glory from his home in Toronto. Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Cameron and Major A. Cameron, Territorial Headquarters, and other members of the bereaved family. Further particulars of the Major's career and of the funeral service will be given in a subsequent issue of The War Cry.

need painting? The League raises the money. Is a new stove or lighting system needed, or assistance with the day-school? It is the League that steps in to help. It is the centre of the corps, as it should be, and around it revolve most of the social activities. These are not held for pleasure alone, but most of them have a great need behind them that must be met.

It is good to know that the Home Leagues of Newfoundland are expanding. In a growing community, a retired officer has started a new League. Already there are forty-four members on the roll and this will form the nucleus of a new corps, a citadel for which is planned to be built this spring. Already four conversions have been reported from this particular League.—Mrs. Brigadier Wiseman.

Colonel W. Dray were welcomed in the final rally of the week-end. Brigadier Newman again presided and words of welcome were extended by Corps Secretary S. Richardson and Company Guard Mrs. L. Slaughter. Fifty officers of the eastern end of the division who had gathered in council during the afternoon with Colonel and Mrs. Dray and the divisional staff, were present. The messages of the Colonel and Mrs. Dray were most fitting and inspiring, challenging the comrades to go forward to greater victories than even sixty-three years of "fighting faith" have revealed.

Commissioner Pugmire conducted morning devotions over CHFX on Monday before leaving Peterborough.

GLOBE-SCANNERS: Taken prior to joining General and Mrs. Orsborn's party leaving the International Centre for the Canadian and American tour, Colonel E. PRAY FOR THESE GATHERINGS

WATCH FOR FURTHER PARTICULARS

THE Chief of the Staff (Commissioner J. J. Allan) announces that the General has decided upon far-reaching changes in the ranking of officers of The Salvation Army.

By these proposals the title of Adjutant disappears from the list of ranks and the Lieutenant takes on increased status. At the same time the General has decided upon a simplification of officers' insignia which will make for greater uniformity of appearance and economy in the cost of trimming and re-trimming.

The new Orders and Regulations Governing Ranks and Promotions of Officers (which take effect from May 1) state:

"The ranks held by officers are the same in all branches of the service in all parts of the world. They are:

PROBATIONARY LIEUTENANT
SECOND LIEUTENANT
FIRST LIEUTENANT
CAPTAIN

OFFICER RANKS and INSIGNIA

An Important Announcement by the Chief of the Staff

SENIOR CAPTAIN
MAJOR
BRIGADIER

"... Staff Officers hold one of the following ranks:

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL
COLONEL
LIEUTENANT-COMMISSIONER

UNIFORM TRIMMINGS

IN connection with these changes the Chief of the Staff has issued a Minute giving details of changes in the rank insignia for officers. These alterations upon which the General has decided bring the color of rank trimmings into line with those of Colonel (which remain unchanged) and, in most cases, makes the alteration of rank an inexpensive and simple affair.

All trimmings are red with silver additions: a silver "S" on a red background on the collar from Probationary Lieutenant to Senior Captain. A silver "S" and crest on a red ground trim collars from Major to Colonel. Steps within these two groups are indicated by a plain red epaulet for Second Lieutenant and Major, with a silver star added for each promotion within that group. Cap badges up to Senior Captain will be a metal crest as at present used for Adjutants, and a silver woven crest on a red cloth shield for ranks to Brigadier. Lieutenant-Colonels remain as at present.

"In reaching these decisions," states the Chief of the Staff, "the General has had the benefit of the deliberations of the General's Advisory Council, whose members have been in touch with Army opinion in all parts of the world, and it is felt that the greater uniformity and economical arrangement of rank trimmings will be especially appreciated and that the new style recognitions and incentives will be seen to be an advantage as the adjustments are made.

First Purpose Remains

"In the meantime," adds the Chief, "the Army's first purpose remains the winning of the world for God, and the General is confident that officers of all ranks (old style and new) in all parts of the world will lose little time over matters of organizational minutiae, but will address themselves with renewed vigor to the pressing problems of these challenging days. May God bless all our comrades in every part of the field."

*Illustrations of the various rank-insignia will appear in a subsequent issue of The War Cry.

NEWFOUNDLAND NEWS

Triton, N.D.B. (Major and Mrs. K. Gill). The fifty-second anniversary of this corps was conducted by the corps officers, assisted by officers in the district.

In the holiness meeting a new penitential-form, donated by Corps Sergeant-Major Elihu Fudge, was dedicated to the memory of his brother, the late Treasurer Fred Fudge, who was a faithful soldier of this corps for several years. The Bible lesson was given by Lieutenant S. Moore.

In the afternoon congratulatory messages from former officers at the corps, as well as one from the Divisional Commander, were read by Mrs. Major Gill. There was also a message from Mr. Pearce Fudge, of Corner Brook, president of the Laborers Union, who is a former resident of this town, expressing his best wishes and congratulations, and adding a splendid donation to assist in the work. The salvation meeting at night was well attended. Special tribute was made to those promoted to Glory. Captain E. Williams gave the Bible lesson. The songsters sang an appropriate selection.

On Monday night the anniversary banquet was held. Bertie Vincent, a junior soldier, lit the candles and the oldest soldier, Mrs. Wm. Fifield, cut the cake. On Wednesday the anniversary gatherings were concluded, when many consecrations were made and one backslider was restored.

Mundy Pond (Major and Mrs. L. Winsor). Major and Mrs. W. Cornick, Spiritual Specials, have just concluded a seven-day campaign, which was rich in blessing and inspiration.

In the holiness meeting on Sunday morning twenty-eight comrades, senior and junior, consecrated themselves afresh to God. At night we had the joy of seeing eleven seekers at the Cross. Forty-eight seekers were registered during the campaign. To God be the glory!

Visits were made to the company meeting when a number of corps cadet certificates were presented. The day school was also visited, and the Major addressed two hundred pupils.

Springdale (Adjutant and Mrs. G. Hickman). This corps has just concluded a week of special meetings and five seekers knelt at the Mercy-Seat.

On Sunday afternoon four soldiers were enrolled.

Musgravetown (Major and Mrs. J. Anthony). Recently we celebrated the 52nd anniversary of our corps. Great crowds gathered for the services conducted by the District Officer, Major G. Yates.

On Sunday afternoon the Major delivered an interesting address on Salvation Army social work before a large crowd of citizens. Mr. H. Oldford, J.P., presided, and Rev. Wood of the United Church spoke.

The citadel was filled to capacity for the Sunday night salvation meeting. The Major's bible message brought deep conviction. Five seekers were registered.

On Monday the anniversary banquet was a success, when $127 was raised toward the citadel. The candles on the birthday cake were lit by Brother David Holloway and the cake was cut by Sister Mrs. Envoy Greening in the absence of the oldest soldier, Mrs. Benjamin Stead. Six seekers have recently sought God.

Long Pond (Captain H. Darby). A series of meetings was conducted by Captains Pitcher and Rideout of Divisional Headquarters. One seeker sought the blessing of sanctification.

Many young people attended the afternoon service and enjoyed the Divisional Young People's Secretary's object lesson. A large audience attended at night. During the past week the Home League members held their spiritual meeting at the home of the oldest soldier, Mrs. Eason, who celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday. One member sought Christ, making a total of five during the past few weeks.

Moreton's Harbor (Captain E. Necho and Envoy Butt). A large crowd attended the holiness meeting, in which three senior soldiers and one junior soldier were sworn in. On a recent Friday the comrades of Bridgeport and Moreton's Harbor united with the United Church congregation at Moreton's Harbor. The filmstrip, "The Life of Christ," was shown. One of the largest crowds ever seen in the church was present.

CONVERTED THROUGH THE FOUNDER

The visit of Major P. Alder to Trail, B.C. (Major and Mrs. O. Halvorsen) was of interest and blessing. The Cub Pack under the leadership of Akela W. Love arranged a meeting on the Saturday afternoon.

Major Alder addressed a Founder's Day gathering in the citadel in which officers and comrades from Rossland were also present. Sister Mrs. Barrett testified in this meeting she was led to Christ through the Founder. She had heard him preach on the same text he quoted in the recording of his voice used on this occasion. Brother T. Barrett also spoke of the impressions left upon him as a young man by the Founder. Major Alder brought a suitable message, stressing "doors opened by or through the Founder's efforts."

A visit to Shaver's Beach Sunday School early Sunday morning concluded the Major's visit.

St. Anthony (Captain W. Harnum). Recently a three-week campaign was held at St. Anthony, Griquet and St. Anthony Bight. Meetings began at St. Anthony Bight with the enrolment of four junior soldiers. The corps officers presented the junior soldiers with their pledge cards, neatly framed. During the week eight sought the Lord. On Sunday four came forward for consecration, and at night three senior soldiers were enrolled. One backslider returned to God, and three others recently sought the Lord.

Wesleyville (Captain and Mrs. E. Parsons). Sunday was a day of spiritual blessing. In the company meeting two junior soldiers were enrolled and at night nine senior soldiers. One soul sought salvation—making a total of twenty-one since November. Five have claimed the blessing of holiness. A new bass drum has been dedicated recently.

Point Leamington (Major and Mrs. H. Porter). The young people's rally and annual were well attended. Our 50th anniversary was well attended and financially successful. A number of young people were recently saved, and two men backsliders have returned.

Cottage meetings are being held at Campbellton (Captain and Mrs. R. Ellsworth), and these are a means of blessing to the people. Our young people's annual was a success, and much enjoyed by all.

Salvationists and friends of Chance Cove (Captain E. Edmunds) were extremely happy to have the Divisional Commander, Brigadier C. Wiseman, to conduct the fortieth anniversary meetings of the corps. Sunday meetings included a children's meeting followed by a holiness meeting, lecture and salvation meeting in which one person accepted Christ. The Brigadier also visited the day school.

On Tuesday evening Brigadier Wiseman described life in Eastern lands and the birthday cake was cut by Mrs. A. Brace, the wife of the first soldier of the corps.

Wesleyville (Captain and Mrs. E. Parsons). Twelve seekers knelt at the Mercy-Seat for salvation on Sunday night.

Adelaide Street (Major and Mrs. B. Hallett). Candidates' Sunday was fittingly observed at this corps. In the holiness meeting Cadet Roberts of the Training College, spoke and the Bible message was delivered by the corps officer. There was a capacity audience for the evening service when Cadet D. Wight gave a message on "The Master is come and He calleth for you." She appealed especially to the young people to devote their lives wholly to God. Mrs. Major Hallett gave the Bible lesson. In the prayer meeting consecrations were made and sinners brought home to Christ. In almost every meeting souls are found at the Cross for salvation and the blessing of holiness.

Recently we welcomed Young People's Sergeant-Major Cecil Howell and family back home from Canada and under his leadership the young people's work is making progress. The band is proving to be a real blessing to shut-ins through their weekly broadcast. The young people's hall and citadel have been re-decorated.

Cottrell's Cove, N.D.B. (Captain Dorothy Haggett). A recent week of public meetings began with a half-night of prayer. All services were enjoyed during the day and the night service resulted in five seekers. Home League members are working with great interest to raise funds for the new citadel.

Welland's Forty-First Anniversary

Galt Band Aids in Celebration

Welland, Ont. (Captain and Mrs. P. Kerr). For the corps' 41st anniversary the Galt Band (Bandmaster H. French), accompanied by the corps officer, Major B. Stevens, helped to celebrate the occasion.

A rousing march and open-air meeting preceded an enjoyable program Saturday evening, at which event Mr. C. P. Hammond presided.

Sunday morning appreciated music was played on the grounds of the local hospital, copies of The War Cry being distributed to many of the patients.

J. Gordon Wright, warm Army friend, and chairman of several of the Home Front drives, chaired a varied and interesting musical meeting in the afternoon. The hall was well filled at night for a spirit-filled meeting, followed by a request program. The spiritual fervor of the bandmen was evident throughout.

UPLIFTING SERIES OF MEETINGS

During the winter months the comrades and friends of Saint John, N.B., have united each Friday night, meetings being held at each of the four city corps. The Divisional Commander, Brigadier A. Dixon, has led on, various officers giving the messages. The Scriptural standard of holiness has been upheld, resulting in a more earnest seeking for the higher plane of Christian experience.

On the final meeting of the season slides depicting scenes of the Holy Land were shown. The Brigadier read the story, and the scenes were presented by Major B. Dumerton; Adjutant J. Viele arranged for the musical recordings. The program was of a deeply spiritual nature, and God's spirit was evident in the prayer meeting, when a soul surrendered to Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE GIVE PAGEANT

A pageant was recently given at Cornwall, Ont. (Captain and Mrs. L. Jannison) by the young people under the direction of the corps officers. A large crowd of school children attended a rehearsal, and also a capacity crowd on the Monday night.

Loud-Speaker System Proves Effective

Recently at North Sydney, N.S. (Major and Mrs. W. Stanley), the corps cadets took part in a meeting, speaking on Christ's seven sayings on the Cross.

The aged and "shut-ins" were remembered by the corps cadets, Guardian, Mrs. E. Young, making it possible for each to receive a basket containing fruit and candy.

With the aid of the Home League, the youth group and corps cadets put on a program.

A campaign has been conducted by Envoy W. Clark, during which, through the medium of a loud-speaker system, the message of the open-air witness reached many people. Indoor meetings were well attended and many souls were blessed. The Envoy and officers visited a sick comrade, Brother G. Meade, and cheered him with prayers and words of comfort.

A number of senior and junior soldiers have been enrolled recently.

St. Catharines, Ont. (Major M. Charlton and Major F. Morgan). The Young People's Saving League has reached a total of $179.50 without altar service gifts.

Decision Sunday saw seven young folk accepting Christ as their Saviour.

Patients Sing

At Orillia, Ont. (Captain and Mrs. C. Fisher) an early-morning love-feast was soul-refreshing. The visit to the Ontario Hospital School was greatly enjoyed on both sides, the patients' whole-hearted singing being a treat to hear.

A program on Monday night given by the young people's corps, was enjoyed by a record audience.

The Home League attendance for the week was a record. A hearty welcome was given to Mrs. Major J. Matthews, of Kingston, who was on a visit to Orillia. Mrs. A. Hume gave service as a visiting pianist.

Recent week-end meetings were piloted by the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Brigadier C. Knaap. The Brigadier showed colored views of Orillia and environs.

On Sunday the citadel was crowded in the morning when local organizations were present. "From Cross to Crown" was enjoyed by a responsive audience at night.

Recent converts are giving a good account of themselves.

SOUL-SAVING TIMES

Times of blessing have been experienced at Winnipeg IV Corps, Man. (Captain G. Oystrik). Three senior and three junior soldiers have been enrolled. The young people's band is giving valuable service both in open-air and inside meetings.

Yvonne LeBlanc won first prize in the vocal, and Bruce Montgomery third in instrumental at the divisional music institute.

Eight children were dedicated to God on Sunday night. The last two Sundays have resulted in souls seeking the Lord, three adults and eight children in all.

The Home League has been making steady progress.

The "Torchbearers" Brigade presented an excellent program which was repeated at Fort Rouge, Norwood, and Weston, bringing before the people the challenge of "Youth at the Cross-roads."

INFLUENCE OF READING

"Gospel News Night" was a special feature in a meeting held at Parsboro, N.S. (Captain and Mrs. S. Crookall). From a newstand, filled with papers and magazines, an object lesson was given. A special newspaper, showing those things which influence lives in the right or

To Correspondents

Corps correspondents will facilitate the work of the editorial staff and the printers by leaving space between the lines of their reports, and by using one side of the paper only. Particulars of photos, sent in should be written on the reverse side, names in block letters. Reports that do not need to be re-typed stand a better chance of an early appearance.—Editor.

wrong direction, was prepared and used.

A good attendance was reported at this meeting, with a young life given to the Lord. Continued interest in young people's meetings is reported.

TEN-DAY CAMPAIGN

The comrades of St. Thomas, Ont. (Major and Mrs. J. Cooper) were blessed and inspired during the ten-day evangelistic campaign conducted by Adjutant and Mrs. F. Barker. The Adjutant's discourses on the life of Daniel, his illustrated services on the "Pilgrim's Progress," and his presentation of "Abraham's Sacrifice" brought uplift to those who attended, as did the solos and messages of his wife.

Mrs. Barker also conducted a Home League spiritual meeting. A helpful young people's gathering was conducted by these visitors.

On Sunday seven children knelt at the Mercy-Seat in the company meeting, and a young man sought Christ in the salvation meeting. All meetings throughout the ten days were well attended. The band and songster brigade gave valuable service, as did the singing company.

BRIGADE COMMISSIONED

Helpful gatherings were led at Fenelon Falls, Ont. (Captain and Mrs. A. Robinson) by the Divisional Commander, Brigadier C. Knaap.

The salvation meeting took the form of a service of song, entitled "From the Cross to the Crown," given by the newly-formed songster brigade. Beautiful pictures shown on a large screen, added to the effectiveness of the service.

A new songster brigade has been commissioned with Envoy J. Whitehouse as the leader. Under his guidance the brigade is blessing many with its fine singing.

Major May Ellery (although officially retired) has been commissioned recruiting sergeant.

At the close of Sunday's meetings two sisters in their teens sought the Lord, a new experience in their lives, as they knew little about the Army or about salvation.

THE GREATEST ROMANCE

An Okanagan district officers' council was conducted by the Divisional Commander, Lieut.-Colonel A. Keith, at Kelowna, B.C. Officers from Vernon, Kamloops and Penticton, as well as Major W. Yurgenson, Major Mrs. R. Weir, and Adjutant

RICH IN BLESSING

Brigadier A. Fairhurst, Territorial Home League Secretary, accompanied by Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel L. Ursaki, visited Sarnia, Ont. (Adjutant and Mrs. J. Sloan) and led meetings that were rich in blessing, several Home League members taking part. At night there was rejoicing when one accepted the Saviour.

Monday, officers and comrades from Petrolia, Wallaceburg and Port Huron united for a rally in the afternoon and a program at night, the Brigadier presiding.

An outstanding week-end was led by Lieut.-Colonel J. Merritt, when goodly crowds rejoiced in the knowledge of the risen Christ.

Major and Mrs. D. Ford, of London, were also recent visitors, conducting a full day of Salvation warfare, when much blessing resulted and seekers were registered.

ROUSING STREET MEETINGS

The Divisional Commander and Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel M. Junker, led a rousing open-air meeting on Saturday evening, and another on Sunday morning in the residential district at Pembroke, Ont. (Major and Mrs. E. Grant).

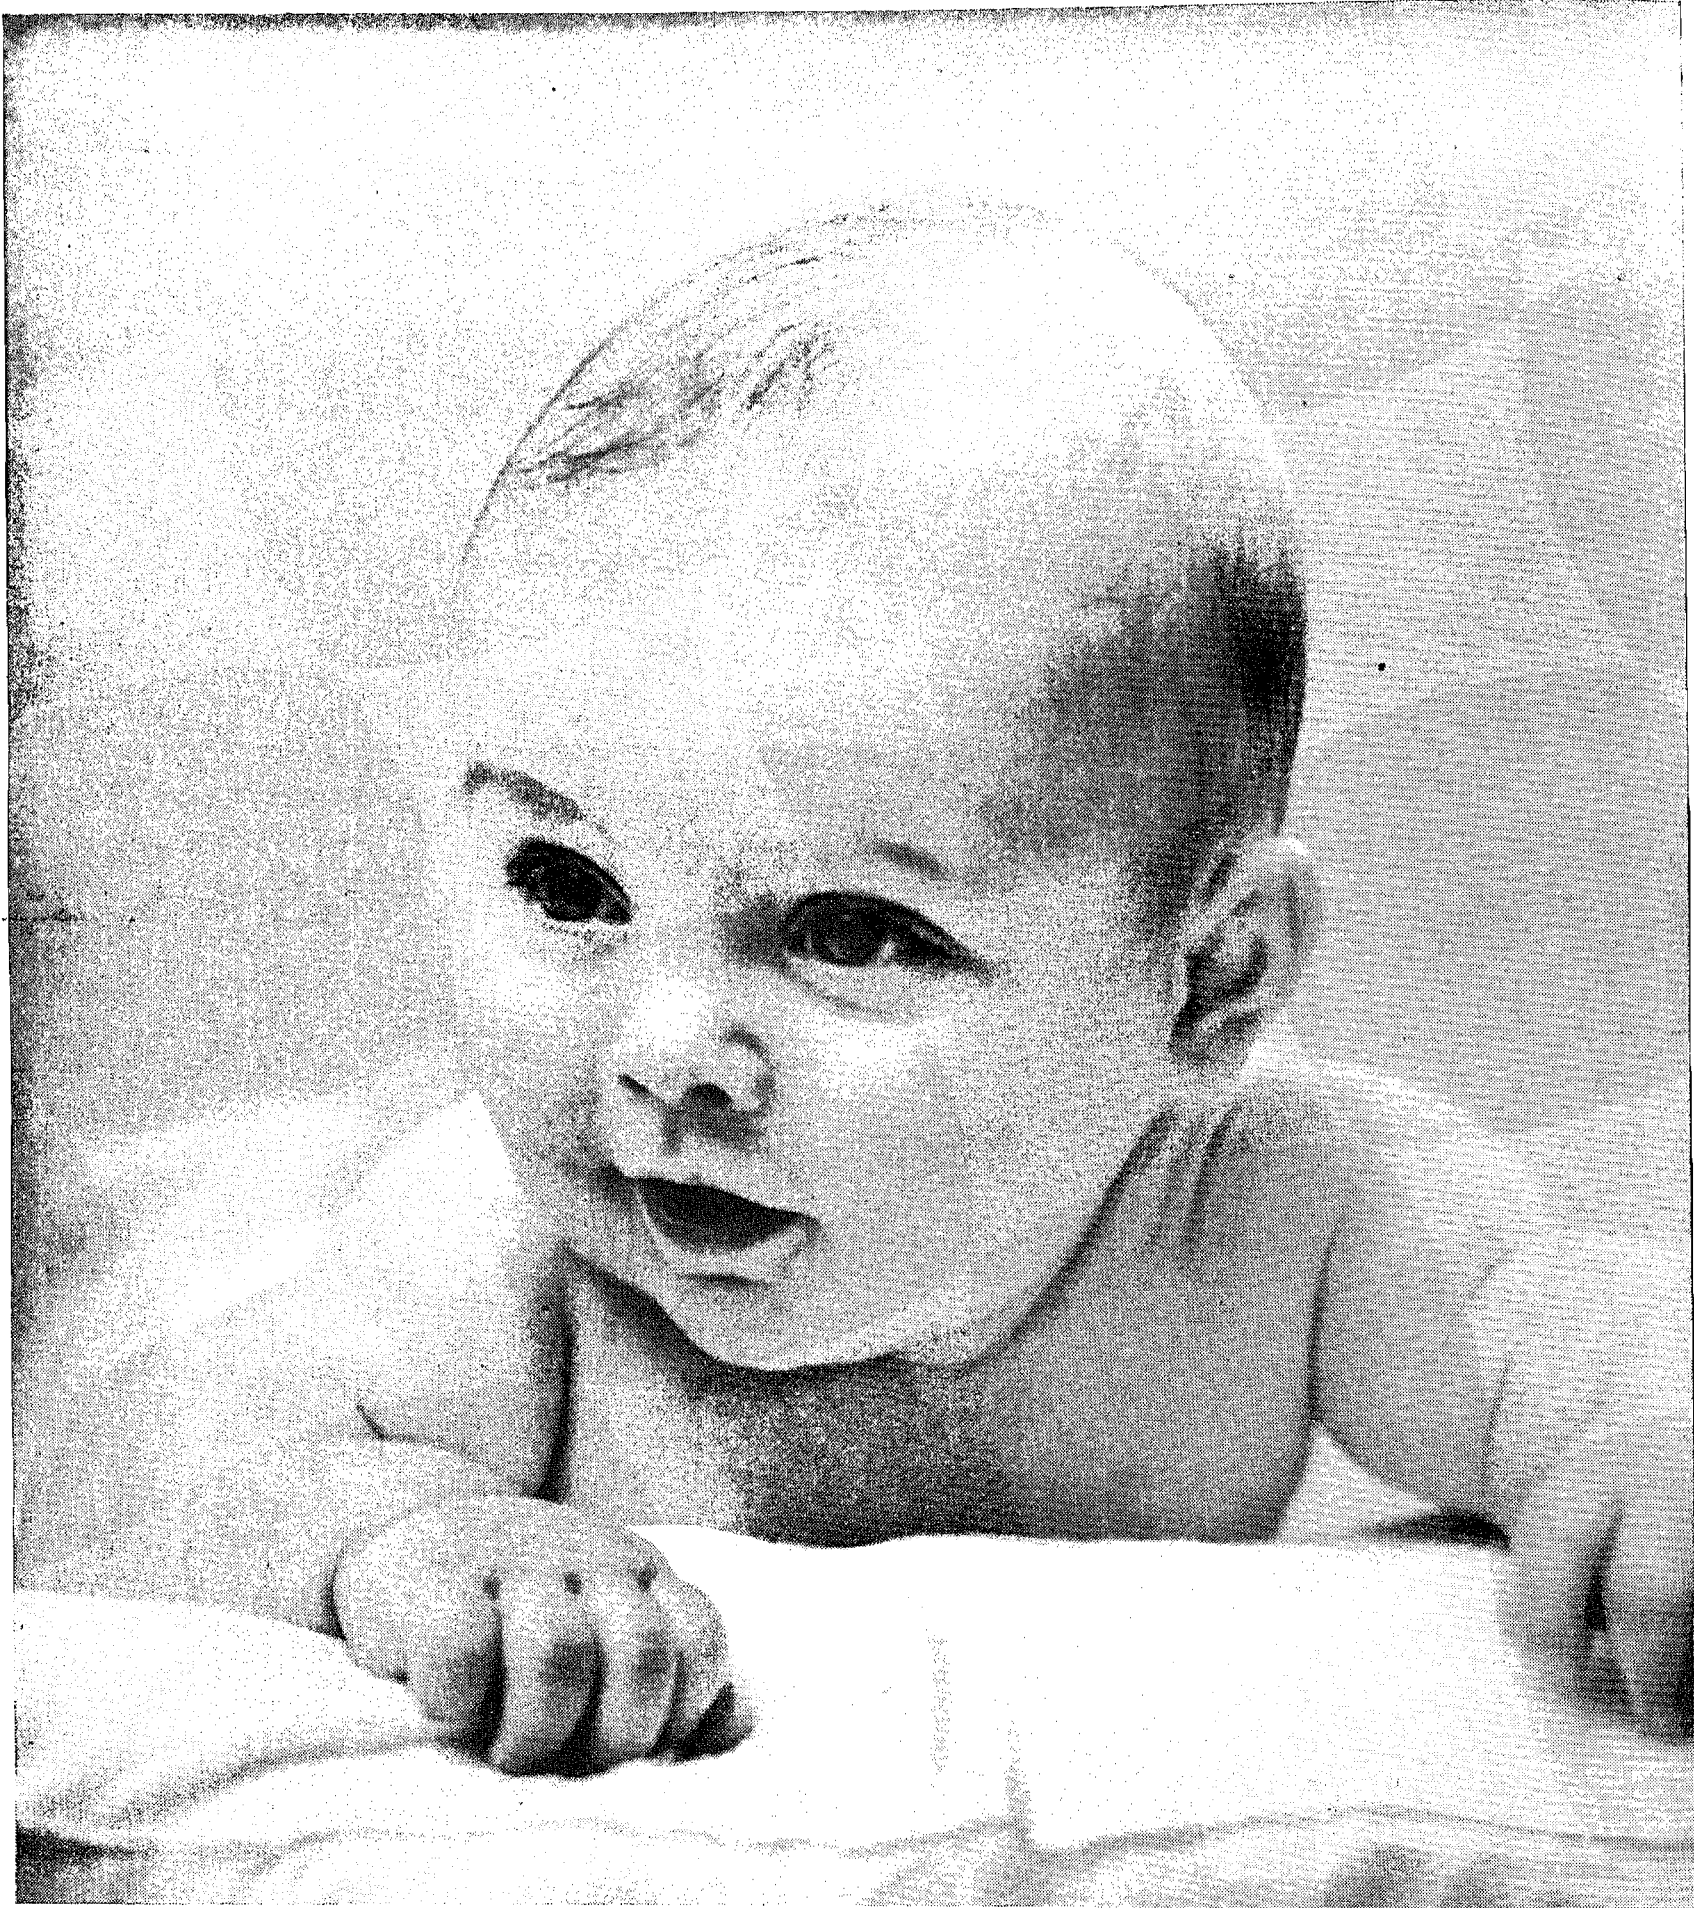

Indoors, the comrades were reminded of the importance of that second work of grace which is so necessary to a successful Christian life. In the afternoon, the Colonel spoke to a well-attended company meeting.

The evening commenced with an outdoor effort. The salvation meeting was well attended and one soul surrendered.

On Monday, Mrs. Junker led an inspiring gathering with the members of the Home League. For the balance of the week, profitable meetings were held in the homes of comrades and friends.

S. Mundy were in attendance. An officers' session was held in the afternoon, followed by a devotional period.

In the evening the Colonel led a public meeting, a feature of which was the recordings of General Evangeline Booth, "The World's Greatest Romance." Memories were stirred and hearts quickened.

JOY OF THE HOME and emphasizing the responsibility that falls particularly to the lot of the mothers of the race, this charming and youthful member of the family brings to mind the adage, "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." MOTHER'S DAY will be observed on Sunday, May 9, and Home League Week will take place May 10-16. Names of new League members, and also Cradle Roll members, readily will be accepted by Salvation Army officers and workers at all times.
